GLOBAL CHARTERS & SALES

THE PRIVATE CHARTER INDUSTRY:

- As the global passenger forecast summary indicates supplied by IATA, the aviation market is substantially growing. These forecasts are complimented by an informed and comprehensive commentary on current and future developments in the air transport industry. It states that the industry as a whole is increasing by a 0.3% per year/per country for the forth-coming five years. I project positive yet hesitant growth characteristics for the future Air Charter Market. World Air Charter traffic grew 15% in 2005 year over year, only to slow markedly in late 2008, with this pattern continuing through to 2009. Despite further slowdown in 2010, world traffic levels have expanded and Emtjets Online charter marketplace is still on the increase. In the current market, Emtjets eliminates the added pressures for all of its clients, by providing an alternative, quick response systems and unlimited access worldwide.
